Happy Holidays From DogSpot!

From the Pack Leader

Holiday season is here and now is a good time to remind everyone that DogSpot offers cage free boarding. If you're going to be out of town over the holidays and your dog will be staying with us make sure your reservation is on the books. Reservations are filling up fast. Many facilities run a holiday schedule for their boarding dogs, which usually means a lot of time stuck in a kennel. Not at DogSpot! Your dog is free to play all day long; at night they chose where they want to sleep. Your dog can choose from one of many plush dog beds or your dog can snuggle up with one of our night time attendants. Your dog is never left alone while boarding at DogSpot. We have live web cams so you can see your dog at play during the day, and you are encouraged to call us anytime to check on your dog while he is staying with us. We have revamped our website, and we've got a video so you can see what cage free boarding is all about! I wish everyone a healthy and happy holiday!

Christmas Party Potluck

Our second annual Christmas Party Potluck will be held on December 13th, from 11am to 3 pm. Bring a favorite dish to share, DogSpot will provide tables set up with beverages and holiday cheer. There will be holiday giveaways along with local artist Amy Burkman doing a speed painting demonstration. Amy's art is fantastic and she always puts on an amazing display of talent and fun. All dogs, on leash, are welcome. We hope you'll be able to attend!

Holiday Safety Tips

By now we all know that chocolate is bad for our dogs but we also need to be careful with other holiday items. Christmas trees are considered mildly toxic. The needles are not easily digestible and can cause serious problems should your dog ingest them. Holiday foliage such as poinsettias, mistletoe, holly, lilies and daffodils are all toxic to dogs, so make sure these plants are not accessible to your pet. Keep wires, batteries and glass or plastic ornaments out of paws' reach. A wire can deliver a potentially lethal electrical shock; punctured batteries can burn the mouth, while shards of breakable ornaments can damage your pet's mouth and digestive tract. Don't leave lighted candles unattended, pets may burn themselves or cause a fire. Noise from New Years' Eve celebrations can be a real problem for many of our dogs. Be sure to secure your dog in a safe, escape-proof area as midnight approaches.
